Dear Mr. Casey:

On behalf of the Board of Trustees, administration, faculty, and student body of Westminster College, may I extend to you a cordial invitation to deliver the 40th John Findley Green Foundation Lecture at Westminster in October of 1983. It is my understanding that the 1980 Lecturer, The Honorable Clare Boothe Luce, has mentioned this possibility to you and has indicated that we would like to have you discuss the role of intelligence in the world today. Mrs. Luce has graciously agreed to return to Fulton for this occasion, in the event that you find you are able to honor us with your presence.

Since its establishment in 1936, the John Findley Green Foundation Lectureship has brought a distinguished roster of world leaders to Westminster College to deliver lectures "designed to promote understanding of economic and social issues of international concern." The deed of gift further stipulates that, "in order that there may be the greatest benefit from this educational effort, it is desired that the speaker shall be a person of international reputation, whose topic shall be within the aim of these lectures and who shall present it with regard for Christian tolerance and practical benevolence." Previous lecturers, in addition to Mrs. Luce, have included Sir Winston Churchill, Former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Gerald R. Ford, Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey, Reinhold Niebuhr, Henry R. Luce, Lord C. P. Snow, Edward Heath, and Secretary of Defense Caspar Weinberger.

It is our hope that the lecture can be scheduled during our 1983 Parents Weekend, in order that the audience may include not only the members of our academic community but also the visiting parents of our 650 students, who represent more than twenty states and several foreign countries. That weekend is scheduled for October 28-30, and the lecture could be set for either 8:00 p.m. on Friday evening, October 28; 2:30 p.m. on Saturday, October 29; or 8:00 p.m. on Saturday, October 29, depending upon which day and time would best suit your schedule.

[redacted] and I would be pleased to have you as our guest at the President's House during your stay on the campus, and we would hope that it might be possible to schedule a luncheon or a supper in your honor, either prior to or following your address. We also would want to include a tour of our Winston Churchill Memorial and Library in your itinerary.

To better acquaint you with Westminster College, I am enclosing some descriptive materials relating to both the institution and the Churchill Memorial, as well as a copy of the program from the 39th Lecture by Secretary Weinberger.

It is our earnest desire that you will consider this invitation favorably and that we may have the honor of welcoming you to Westminster College in October, as well as the privilege of having you share with us and the world your views and insights on the important question of the role of intelligence in American life. We shall look forward to hearing from you at your earliest convenience.

Sincerely,
